An exclusive network

Corporate members tap into the Mansfield Foundation's vast network on both sides of the Pacific.

• A minimum of six high-level policy lunches in Washington and Tokyo, open only to CFM members.

• Speakers from across the political spectrum are chosen for their knowledge and experience in U.S.-Asia relations. They have included members of national legislatures, diplomats, former administration officials, and distinguished experts on international affairs.

Chief Cabinet Secretary Yoshimasa Hayashi addresses a CFM event at the International House of Japan in Tokyo.

Sung Kim, then-Special Representative for North Korea Policy and Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Korea and Japan, shares insights during an evening discussion with CFM members.

Wendy Sherman, former Deputy Secretary of State, briefs CFM members on U.S.-Asia diplomacy.

The Maureen and Mike Mansfield Foundation is a 501(c)(3) organization connecting people and ideas to advance mutual interests in U.S.-Asia relations.

It was was created in 1983 to advance Maureen and Mike Mansfield's life-long efforts to promote understanding and cooperation among the nations and peoples of Asia and the United States.

The Foundation sponsors exchanges, dialogues, and publications that forge networks among U.S. and Asian leaders, explore the underlying issues influencing public policies, and increase awareness about the nations and peoples of Asia.

The Foundation has offices in Washington, DC; Tokyo, Japan; and Missoula, Montana.

More than two decades of partnership with corporate affiliates

Since 2004, the Mansfield Foundation has partnered with corporations, working together to strengthen U.S.-Asia relations and enhance dialogue on important Asia-related issues.

The Corporate Friends of Mansfield (CFM) program delivers exclusive benefits designed to align with our corporate partners' strategic priorities.

Events in Washington and Tokyo offer top-tier corporate members exclusive networking opportunities with other business leaders, policymakers, policy experts, and Mansfield Foundation program participants.

Corporate members are invited to Capitol Hill Asia Policy Dialogues, which foster discussion between representatives of the U.S. Congress and the business community on legislation and policies that impact U.S. relations with Asia.
